ALLIOT TECHNOLOGIES STRIKE GOLD WITH RAKWIRELESS

Leading IoT distributor, Alliot Technologies receive Gold-Level Value-Added Reseller status from RAKwireless.

Huddersfield, West Yorkshire, UK / March 9th 2021 Today, specialist IoT distributor Alliot Technologies announces a new partnership with tech pioneer, RAKwireless. The new collaboration comes after Alliot receives the Gold-Level Value-Added Reseller status from RAKwireless. The partnership between the two companies aims to ensure the development of LoRaWAN® IoT solutions throughout the UK and Europe.

"We are delighted to have received the Gold-Level Value-Added Reseller status from RAKwireless," Alliot's Technical Director, Paul Hayes said regarding the appointment. "Having been alerted to RAKwireless by some of our existing customers, it's always a great sign of quality products. With their range of devices covering industrial use, building management and low-cost gateways, we are now able to cover even more vertical markets than ever before."

Commenting on this milestone partnership with Alliot, Ken Yu, CEO of RAKwireless, shares, "At RAK, we value diversity. We collaborate with different partners and we invest time to talk to our partners to understand their unique requirements and help them realise the business models they need. Our partnership with Alliot strengthens our ideal of working together with partners, no matter how big or small, to accelerate IoT industry progress."

RAKwireless is doubling down on its efforts to move ahead together with partners from all around the world. Alliot is a testament, among many other partners, to RAKwireless' commitment in making IoT solutions accessible and available wherever you may be.
